MALE MARRIES A RICH MAN'S DAUGHTER

Once upon a time, there lived an old man who had a house and a large beautiful garden. The old man was called Mutekanga. He was very rich but he never gave away anything without working for it.

The old man had a very beautiful daughter called Nanyonjo. She wanted to marry Male. Old Mutekanga chased away Male because he would not let Nanyonjo marry anyone who was not as rich as he was. He wanted her to marry Kingo, one of the richest neighbours.

One day Mutekanga told her servants to build a high wall around her beautiful garden so that no one could get in. He ordered the servants to look after his daughter. He did not want her out of the beautiful garden until after her marriage.

Nanyonjo felt very sad in her room most of the time. She could not eat anything. She befriended the servant looking after her so that he could find out where Male was. This servant was very kind and caring. The servant tried all the best and one day he found Male. When Nanyonjo learnt that Male had been found, she was very happy. She planned to meet him on the day she was to be handed over to Kingo as a wife.

On that day, old Mutekanga planned to hand over Nanyonjo for marriage. Many people were invited to the wedding. That day, all the gates to the beautiful garden were open. Male was one of the many people who entered the garden and stood where he could see his lovely Nanyonjo getting married. When the old man announced the daughter's marriage, Nanyonjo surprised everybody when she walked through the crowd to meet Male whom she brought forward. She told her father that he was the man of her choice.
